GLOSSARY

Chips: Peeled white potato cut to 12mm, blanched and finished in hot oil. It's a little crunchy, a little soft. Served with malt vin egg and salt — delicious.
French Fry: Re-constituted potato cooked from frozen... pretty nasty.
Myers Jumbo Sausage/Banger: NYC's best English sausage from Myers of Kedwick.
Scotch Eggs: Hard boiled eggs surrounded by sausage, breadcrumbed and baked. Served cold.

Welsh Rarebit: Cheddar cheese, cream & mustard on bread and baked. Served with tomato & Branston pickle.
Haggis: If you have to ask you probably shouldn't order it but... it's lambs heart, kidney, breast & liver ground up & cooked with oats, scotch whisky, herbs & spices, battered & deep fried. Sounds nasty but it's delicious. Scotland's national dish.

SUBSTITUTIONS

We will substitute like for like — e.g. substitute mashed potato or green salad for chips. Your choice!

Chip Butty: Chips on a buttered roll.
Spotted Dick: Sponge pudding with raisins and served with custard.
Fish Fingers: Made from whole fillet of cod and battered.
